Jim Gault has asked me to write a recommendation on his behalf. I am happy to do it, as Jim has certainly earned a glowing report.

From start to finish, Jim provided a highly professional service. He always made himself available for meetings and questions, first, in figuring out what system would work best for our needs, then by assessing how much shelving space would be required for our existing as well as future needs, and, finally, by insuring the timely delivery and quality installation of the product.

In our case, the shelving system required a modification from the original design to fit into the space (access portals in the floor could not be covered). Not only did Jim make more than one trip for measuring and talking to the building manager about the design needed before the system was manufactured, but he insured the installation went smoothly and that the result was not only practical, but attractive as well.

The Richard-Wilcox mobile system in place today is working well for us. Should we find ourselves in need of additional shelving in the future, I would not hesitate to call upon Jim and the rest of the staff at Salt City Records.

Sincerely,

Tate W. Curtis
